SUSTAINABLY SOURCED COCOA

We believe in creating empowered, thriving cocoa communities as the essential foundation for sustainable cocoa.

At CADBURY, we know that without successful farmers and thriving cocoa-growing communities to produce our cocoa, we cannot bring consumers the chocolate they love.

The importance of a sustainable supply of cocoa has driven the creation of Cocoa Life, an industry-leading independently verified program to support sustainable cocoa production.

Cocoa Life works directly with farmers to provide farmer training and support for community development and environmental protection. Cocoa communities that include women's voices and empower youth through education. We work on the ground with Non-Government Organisation partners to deliver the program in over 1,000 communities, impacting 120,000 cocoa farmers.

These programs give you confidence that whenever you buy a CADBURY DAIRY MILK fundraising box or block, it will not only taste good, but make a difference too.
